Please be advised that the following information is a listing of who service's what and NOT a recommendation for any one listed here.

The following is a list of "trade repair" advertisers. Most of the names here were obtained from ANCI's Horological Times, NAWCC's MART, and The Watch and Clock Review.

My advise is anyone reading this is to find a "local" repair person and establish a good relationship with that person. Do NOT pick just anyone. Ask whether or not they belong to either of the following:

ANCI (American Watchmakers-Clockmakers Institute), BHI (British Horological Institute), or
NAWCC (National Association of Watch and Clock Collectors).

Hopefully that local person will belong to at least one (1) of the aforementioned organizations. This will NOT guarantee that the person is knowledgeable or reputable but it WILL tell you that most likely that person is a caring and serious repair person that strives to keep well informed and apprised of the "best" techniques concerning restoration.
