OS Maps for your Garmin eTrex or GPS 60

Garmin have told us that the new range of OS Discoverer maps will only be compatible with the Oregon and perhaps the soon to be released Dakota range of GPS units, leaving eTrex & GPS 60 users with either the choice of Topo GB or no maps.

At this point I have to say I've used Topo happily for several years, and goes a long way towards the need to have a full OS map on the screen of a handheld GPS, it does include Navteq auto routing and POI data as part of the package which is great if you want to navigate both on and off road; but for me and I'm sure most Topo users main issue or drawback is that the rights of way information is not based on OS data, in other words you can't be sure that the footpath you wish to use is on the map.

I'm sure I can't be the only eTrex user that hoped that the new OS discoverer mapping would be compatible with existing Garmin handsets like my trusty Legend HCx; alas we're told by Garmin that this isn't possible for a variety of reasons mostly technical. Leaving owners of Garmin existing products who wish to have a full OS map in screen only option to upgrade to an Oregon or perhaps the new Dakota.

We've come across an inexpensive software package (Mapwel) that will calibrate and vectorise a map image and then transfer the map to any MapSource compatible GPS in the Garmin range. (View list of Mapwel compatible GPS units)

MapSource is a Garmin product that is used to deliver Garmin mapping products to compatible Garmin GPS units; for instance if you purchase MapSource Topo GB on DVD the maps are uploaded to your PC then once you have unlocked the maps with Garmin you can transfer either the whole map or selected map segments to your GPS.

Its standard practice in software houses to protect the copyright of any purchased maps; Garmin's MapSource is locked to the unit ID of your GPS, which effectively means you can view the maps on your PC, transfer data like waypoints to your GPS, but you will only be able to transfer maps to your GPS after you have completed the unlock procedure with Garmin.

Interestingly MapSource will allow you to import any of the free compatible maps widely available on the Internet and thence to your GPS, these free maps are not blocked by the unlock procedure. Mapwel is the first software we've seen that will allow you to convert either hand drawn or copied map images into file format that is compatible with MapSource. Prior to this we have been dependent on free maps posted on the Internet or websites that will convert your maps for a fee.

The software we used Mapwel is inexpensive, relatively easy to use; it protects its integrity by only allowing the transfer of maps to authorized GPS units, it mimics the MapSource process of recognising the unit ID of the licensed GPS and erasing any pre-loaded maps on the GPS units SD card.

Our experience was that the creation and transfer of a map to a GPS was a five step process:

1. Scan paper map or capture image of the map from Digital Mapping software like Memory-Map or Duo on your PC (we used Scandit) and save the scan or image to your PC
2. Import image to Mapwel
3. Calibrate map – you need to be able to give an exact grid reference to three positions on your map portion, Mapwel supports most grid formats like British Grid, Lat/Long, and UTM/WGS.
4. Vectorise map – turns your Raster image into a Vector format acceptable to MapSource
5. Transfer to GPS using Mapwel (unlock code required)
